

JUDGE WILLIAMS ON SCHOOL BOOKS

Impales His Opponent on His Record of Multiple List.

HAS A VERY FINE AUDIENCE

Came Unannounced and Practically Unknown to the People.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
EMPORIA, June 21.—Judge Samuel W. Williams, of Wytheville, candidate for Attorney-General, spoke here to-day in the county courthouse to a splendid audience of representative business men of Emporia and Bedford and to a goodly number of voters from among the county districts. Judge Williams's speech made him many strong supporters in this section of the State, and he was received in a hearty and enthusiastic manner. His "talk," as he expressed it, was full of business and covered many live issues of the campaign. He said that his opponent was on record as being in favor of the multiple school book system, while he and every candidate before the Democrats of Virginia had repeatedly declared in favor of the single book list. He declared amid an outburst of applause, if the present Attorney-General was right in his construction of the Constitution, which pertains to the school book question, then every candidate in the field for popular suffrage was wrong, and he was glad to be one among them. "I stand for the single list and cheaper books. The remedy before and now is to place in the office of the Attorney-General a man who will stand between the school patron, be he rich or poor, but especially the man whose income is barely sufficient to maintain a livelihood for the little ones he is bound to feed and clothe."

"If elected Attorney-General," he continued, "I will enforce the laws of Virginia as long as my strength and mind continues. I do not reflect on any man, but I want it understood that I am for the principle of dealing justice to all comers."

Judge Williams spoke very tenderly of the old Confederate soldier, who deeply affected his hearers. Judge Williams came unannounced and practically unknown to the majority of the voters, but it may be said that the speech he made here to-day, covering an hour and twenty minutes, will not be forgotten in the coming primary. The judge goes to Petersburg from Emporia.

TALKING OF THE CITY PRIMARY

to go to the House than to help along this reform, for which he has so long and ably contended.

Hon. E. P. Cox had a victory of which a man might feel proud. He is a member of the present House, and, therefore, has a record. Mr. Cox came second on the ticket, and his vote was complimentary in all sections of the city. Mr. Peyton won easily, getting the fourth place on the ticket and he and his many friends were very happy at his victory.

A Close Finish.

There was what sporting people would call a "heart disease finish" for the fifth and last winning place on the ticket, between Mr. Ordway Puller and Mr. Maurice A. Powers. Mr. Puller finally won out by thirty-three votes, but he did not know his fate until after first Lee had come in, about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. With this precinct to hear from, he had the very narrow lead of twenty-seven votes over Mr. Powers. Both were still hopeful, but terribly panic-stricken as to the final outcome. Both live up-town and are popular with their neighbors, and they ran neck and neck in first Lee. In the end, Mr. Puller had six majority, increasing his lead to thirty-three, and finally determining the contest. This was the closest of all the fights, though nothing has been heard to indicate that Mr. Powers will ask for a recount.

There was regret expressed at the defeat of Captain E. B. Thompson, who is a member of the House at present, and who has a fine record. The result is laid to over-confidence as much as to any other cause. A good many people scratched Captain Thompson, thinking he would surely be elected, and having promised five other candidates. result is not at all unusual in politics.

A Great Triumph.

A great race was that made by Sergeant James C. Smith for reelection and it was the talk of the city yesterday. Mr. Smith defeated Mr. H. Claiborne Epps, his next highest competitor, by a plurality of 1,152 and got a majority over Messrs. Epps and McCaw of 463. The term is for four years, from January 1, 1906, and the office is one of the most valuable in the city.

Captain Frank W. Cunningham was on duty all day at the City Hall receiving taxes, and he was fairly showered with congratulations. Most of those who are familiar with political battles and the strength of candidate in Richmond expected Captain Cunningham to win. Captain Cunningham's majority was 2,666, one of the largest ever obtained by any candidate in the city.

Cunningham Grateful.

"I can never forget the kindness of my people," said the Captain, "and it is my abiding prayer that I shall be able to render them the best possible service at all times in return for this evidence of their renewed confidence, which I am strong hopes, he will resume his duties as a patrolman, and serve the city in this capacity until he qualifies as high constable, on January 1st, 1906.

Never in a decade at least, has there been more of public interest in the primary in Richmond, and it has been only in rare instances that there were so many surprises, either in the size of majorities or the choice of men.

There were two men who won out over the protests of the leaders and whose victories are, therefore, regarded the more sweeping in their nature.

They are Mr. Wyatt, for high constable, and Mr. Masse, for the House. It was used against both that they were running in the interest of the church people and the Anti-Saloon League, but they swept down all opposition and "went under the wire" with flying colors.

No Organization.

Neither had any organization, but both went out and appealed to the people, and the people answered their appeals by gratifying their wishes.

In the case of Mr. Wyatt, however, it may be said that he "held a strong hand" from the start. The church-going people were naturally for him, because City Committee.

There are many changes in the make up of the new City Democratic Committee. These result from two causes—some of the old men did not stand again and others were defeated.

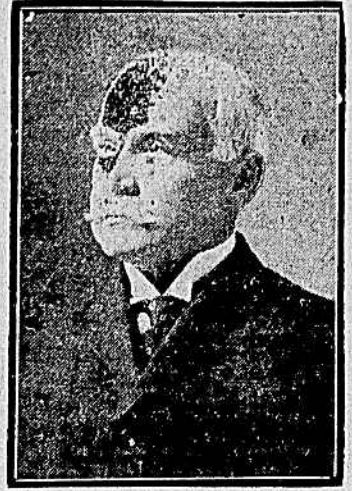

Chairman James B. Doherty was returned without opposition, and will be his own successor as chairman in all likelihood.

Treasurer P. Kemper Renfor ran second on his ticket in Madison Ward, and will not have opposition for treasurer.

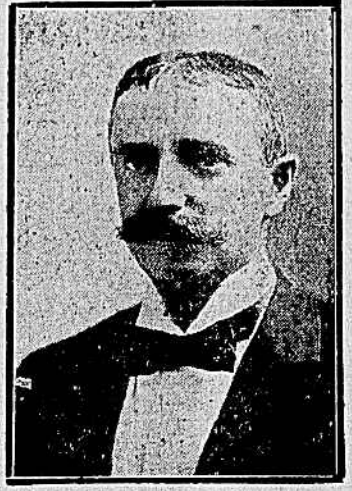

Secretary W. G. Dunn did not stand again, and Mr. Russell Bargamin, of Auditor E. J. Warren got 1,784 majority over Mr. E. A. Barber.

A race in which there was great public interest from the start was that for high constable, in which Police Officer William H. Wyatt, Jr., won by a majority of 446 over the incumbent, Mr. E. C. Garrison. The fight was lively from the moment Mr. Wyatt decided to enter, and though most of the leaders lined up with Mr. Garrison, the faithful police officer won his spurs over a man who has heretofore swept down all opposition.

Detained By Illness.

Mr. Wyatt was taken out of the canvass by illness about a week ago. If he shall recover and his doctor has of the courage he had shown in dealing with crime while discharging his duty as a patrolman. On the other hand, it is an open secret that many votes were cast for him in order to get him off the force, in the hope that no more Wyatts would spring up to take his place.

Perhaps more money changed hands on this fight than all the others together, and yesterday there were collections galore by those who had backed their judgment in favor of Wyatt with coin.

How They All Ran.

Following is a tabulated statement of the official vote cast for each candidate

"I AM INNOCENT," LIPSCOMB SAYS

He has several letters from Fields exonerating him from all connection with the disappearance of the funds, and shouldering the blame himself. Fields now states that he wrote these letters to shield Lipscomb's family, and that they are nothing but falsehoods of the whole cloth. Hon. R. Walton Moore and Major Holmes Conrad are associated with a local attorney in behalf of Lipscomb.

Throughout the session to-day Mr. Leslie Lipscomb, a brother of the defendant, was with him. In the selection of the jury the defendant assisted his counsel very materially. The court room was well filled with an audience that seemed to be deeply interested in the hearing. Nearly two hours were consumed in impeaching a jury. In his opening statement, District Attorney Beach said in part:

"Mr. Lipscomb appropriated the money to his own use or actually allowed Fields to steal. It would have been sufficient to warrant conviction if Mr. Lipscomb consciously knew that Fields was stealing the money, and he, the other receiver, permitted the theft. We are told that there will be no technical defense interposed here. It is a square question of fact. Did Lipscomb take the money or consciously know that Fields was taking it, or did he not?"

There was "nibbling and nibbling, and taking and taking by both of the receivers." It is charged. In 1897 they made an investment in the form of interest-bearing certificates of deposit of the Washington Loan and Trust Company. Thereafter, it is stated, as the receivers needed the money for purposes proper or improper, they would surrender the certificates they held for certificates of smaller amount, taking the difference in cash.

After admonishing the jury to do even justice by Mr. Lipscomb, the district attorney began the taking of testimony. This up to the close of the court this evening was merely preliminary to the main issue.
